Homeless: A student is considered homeless if they lack fixed, regular, and adequate housing. This is broader than just living "on the street." It includes but is not limited to:

- youth living in emergency or transitional shelters, for example, trailers provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency after disasters.
- youth living in motels, campgrounds, cars, parks, abandoned buildings, bus or train stations, substandard housing, or any public or private place not designed for humans to live in.
- youth living in the school dormitory if they would otherwise be homeless; and
- youth who are migrants and who qualify as experiencing homelessness because they are living in the circumstances described above.

Unaccompanied: when a student is not living in the physical custody of a parent or guardian.

Self-Supporting: when a student pays for his or her living expenses including fixed, regular, and adequate housing.

At Risk of Being Homeless: when a student's housing may cease to be fixed, regular, and adequate, for example, a student who is being evicted and has been unable to find fixed, regular, and adequate housing.
